

SARA Checklist for Success

Please use this CHECKLIST before submitting your SARA. Students who do this inevitably do better than those who don't.

- My video is between 5-8 MINUTES LONG.
- I made SURE the audio and video work well from beginning to end!
- I answered my SARA question AND I included the relevant evidence that supports the answer
- My SARA includes a slide with the title "Time to relate" (the instructions for what to include here are on the SARA webpage)
- My SARA includes a slide with the title "Time to apply" the instructions for what to include here are on the SARA webpage)
- On every slide where I talk about info I got from articles, books, websites etc..., I have included the complete citation for all sources on that slide – in APA 7th ed format
- I uploaded a pdf or docx of ALL my references (in APA format) to the Canvas assignment called "Your SARA Video presentation"
- I have at least the minimum number of peer-reviewed sources (more will give me a higher score)
- If I read my presentation, no one will be able to tell
- I used voice inflections to sound excited and passionate about the material
- I used sans serif fonts (arial or Calibri) that are large and contrast well with the background
- I used only short yet meaningful bullet points that come in one at a time as I talk about them
- I created beautiful slides with lots of well-placed images and graphics
- I created 3 multiple choice questions based on my SARA for students to take.
- I looked at the instructions for creating the questions (they are on the SARA webpage)
- I did NOT include these 3 questions in the video itself
- I submitted the 3 questions to the Canvas assignment called "The three multiple choice questions you created"
- I indicated in this same Canvas assignment what the answer is to each question
- I saved my narrated SARA presentation as a .mp4 or .mov
- I uploaded my SARA to the google folder (linked on the Canvas homepage)
- I pasted a goggle link to the video into the Canvas assignment called "Your SARA video presentation".
